

WHAT IS CLAIMED IS:

- 1                    1.     An application program interface for a network optimization
2     system, the interface comprising
3                    dual interface support for scripting languages.
- 1                    2.     An application program interface for a network optimization
2     system, the interface comprising
3                    an interface for loading a data object, the interface for loading a data
4     object comprising one or more of the following:
5                    a procedure for obtaining a data server;
6                    a procedure for obtaining a connection string;
7                    a procedure for closing a connection; and
8                    a procedure for opening a connection.
- 1                    3.     An application program interface for a network optimization
2     system as substantially described in this application.

10055404.061702